This week's exclusive interview is with Dan Remley, R.D., Doyle Hall. Next week, the CARBON will spend some space with Debbie Bhagwandin, R.D., Clare Hall. They make such a striking cover couple, we just couldn't bear to separate them for their respective interviews. THANKS to Bobbie Jackson, CARBON portrait artist for their likenesses.

CAMPUS MINISTRY

Short "practice session" in the chapel on Tues. and Wed., 5:15-5:45 for those willing to be readers at Mass. First-timers are encouraged to come to one or the other session so as to try reading at the microphone. If these times are inconvenient, please contact Sr. Sue (Ministry Center) to set up another time.

Due to the paper shortage in Southern Bolova (which has, incredibly enough, reached half way around the world and effected our small corner of it), many club reports and several features we were to initiate this issue have been postponed until next issue. Revisions, complaints and general greetings of good cheer can be addressed to Meg Higgins (I'll be wearing a red carnation) &/or Diana Solar (I'm the one with the elevated Karma) - ext. 506 and 508 respectively.

INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS ON FINANCIAL AID

If you have not returned the award letter that was sent to you, please do so soon. Return it to the Financial Aid Office.

If you have not yet started your work study job come to the Financial Aid Office to pick up your job assignment. Remember that you must work all of the hours that you were assigned to earn the full amount of your work study award.

There has been considerable confusion about the State of Indiana Grants for the 1980-81 school year. Briefly, the problem has been with funding from the state and the constant changes that the state has made over the summer. The latest information from the state is that they will be getting the final (we hope!) awards out to students sometime in October. I apologize for the delay and inconvenience to you. Please come by the Financial Aid Office if we can help you.

are fine. What things would you want to change? "...More cohesiveness between floors and reduce apathy. The Doyle council will work in this direction. We'd like to hold back students who go home during weekends by our activities ... There are a variety of people living here. I would like to see more communication among Marian students, & between them and ELS students.

What are your experiences with the Freshman class? "The freshman need a contact point. I would like to show more interest. The Seniors; I, being a Senior not too long ago, am able to feel their needs and tensions and would like to help them in all ways possible."

What are your future plans? "Nothing long range. I would like to continue my masters at I.U.P.U.I. where I double major in Counseling and student personnel. I certainly want to continue working at

BECOME INVOLVED!

Each academic year begins full of student expectations and the promise of individual development. Therefore, when the CARBON editors approached me to write this week's editorial, I was pleased to accept the invitation. By accepting, I felt I could issue a challenge relevant to the opportunities available for students to realize their expectations and to fulfill their promise.

In addition to the CARBON, Marian provides outlets of a more structured nature for those interested in making their opinions and recommendations known. In recent years, it has become fashionable on some campuses for students to claim alienation from the system because they are divorced from the decision-making process. This complaint really is not valid at Marian. Here a College-wide Council is charged with the general responsibility of the institution's internal governance. Every segment of the academic community enjoys representation on the Council and its committees — administration, faculty, professional staff, and students. In addition, the Board of Trustees has a committee of which the President of the Student Association is a member — devoted exclusively to student concerns.

However, this does not imply that there will necessarily be universal concurrence with student-initiated proposals. What it does mean is that the opportunity exists for students to express their opinions and to test their concepts in an open College or Trustee forum. For the student who would rather cloak himself or herself in the darkness of alienation rather than try to light the candle of constructive action, this institutional receptiveness can be a source of frustration: it is much easier to hurl questions and pose problems than it is to submit answers and provide solutions.

For those who prefer other channels for the utilization of their talents and the realization of their potential, there is a variety of athletic, social, class, and academic-based extra curricular activities. But, regardless of special interests or the direction selected for the expression of these interests, the important factor is to become involved. There is as much education and personal development taking place outside the classroom as there is within. And, for this, there is no additional charge.

Finally, institutions of themselves are neither "big time" nor "small time". The smallest college in the country can be a giant just as the largest multiversity can be insignificantly diminutive when it comes to the realization of a student's expectations and promise. What counts in the last analysis is the quality of the individual commitment of every member of the College community — students, faculty, staff, and administrators — to the broad range of developmental possibilities existing on any college campus. "Big time" and "small time" are terms directly related to this commitment.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Anyone who signed up for the Social Committee last year, or anyone wishing to do so this year please contact Tim Trushaw at ext. 443 or leave a message for Sister Ruth.

Thank You.

IN ADDITION...

In last week's welcome to new staff and faculty members, we neglected Sr. Lucia Van Benten new to the Educational Media Division. We, at the Carbon, extend both our apologies and greetings.

Marian. Also, I'll be helping the Biology Department in teaching Island/Marine Biology next semester."

Did you have any expectations before you came here? "None"

Well, then, your disappointment must be at the cafeteria?

"Well, I would rather not comment on that!"

Mr. Remley, we here at the Carbon welcome you to this campus and wish you the best in all your endeavors.

AN INTERVIEW WITH DAN REMLEY

Daniel Carter Remley, the new Dorm Director at Doyle is a native of Oakhurst, New Jersey but was a student resident of Delaware, Ohio. He majored in Zoology at Ohio Wesleyan University and graduated with a Bachelor of Arts on June 1979. During his college days he undertook an independent study in Field Ethology at University of Minnesota, Stasca Park in the summer of 1978. Here, he completed an investigation designed to elucidate information communicated by the vocalizations in the territorial system of the Chipping Sparrow. He also visited Ecuador in Dec. 78 on the Galapagos Expedition, where he observed the plant and animal life, particularly those species endemic to the archipelago.

Though Mr. Remley's career objective delved deep into what he was majoring in- to obtain a position with a reputable organization as an Environmental/Ethological consultant- he however was unconsciously training himself to be what he is today. In his extra curricular activities, he was affiliated to the Student for four years where he chaired the committee on Mental Retardation for two years. He was in the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and also represented the Zoology Dep. in the Student Board for three years. During his later years in College, Mr. Remley became a Resident Director at Selby Hall, where he was responsible for student orientation personal and academic counseling. He took active interest in organizing and implementing educational programmes, such as alcohol awareness, and study skills workshops. He took keen interest in developing floor cohesiveness and maintaining a coordinated feedback system with the Professional Student Life Staff. During the conversation, I asked the following questions from Mr. Remley and he responded quite candidly.

What was Marian like, to you?

I like the Park like campus where you get up to the songs of birds. I was quite impressed that the campus is secluded. Unlike the big universities around here, we have the availability of Indpls. but still are secluded. I being a casual person, this releasing atmosphere suits me.

Were you surprised at the rules and regulations in the Dorms?

Yes, I went to a school where everything was open. But the existing rules at Marian had worked before me so I thought I will adjust. It didn't take long.

What do you think of the alcohol rule?

It's a good rule. The level of responsibility is too low for the students in College. I'd like to see it in a Graduate level. However, I do not object to alcohol being served at special functions.

How do you feel about the visitation hours?

All through my campus life I experienced open visitation, the set up here was new to me. I think it should be extended to maybe from 4 o'clock to 11 o'clock in the evening during the week days. I think the weekend hours

MARIAN COLLEGE COMMUNITY

Next Friday night, Sept. 12, the Senior class will sponsor its' annual outdoor concert on the Drum and Bugle Field. This year the band will be "3rd Generation". The concert is free and will be from 8:00 - 11:00 p.m. There will also be refreshments served. So stay on campus this weekend and have a great time.

HEY FRESHMEN

Want to get involved? Come on and run for a class office. Sign up sheets are in front of Marian Hall Auditorium till Monday, Sept. 8. Elections will be held Wed., Sept. 10. If you want to see who might be leading your class come to Clare Hall Lounge, Tuesday night at 9:00 p.m. for speeches and introductions. Help make this year your best-run for a class office!

TO THE SENIOR CLASS AND DR APPLEBY

This coming Wednesday, September 10, there will be a Senior class meeting in Clare Hall Lounge. We are going to be discussing Homecoming and other events of the year. There will also be a vote taken concerning Homecoming and Sadie Hawkins, so show up and voice your vote. Also, if you can afford to devote some of your time to help out with these activities, please attend.

Thom Bohrer
Senior Class Secretary

See you all on Wednesday, September 10 at 3:30 pm in the Clare Hall Lounge.

INTRAMURALS

Co - ed softball is off to a great start with 10 teams and over 125 students. Keep checking the board for schedules and results.

Thanks for the co-operation

PARTY!!!

This Friday (today) TAG is sponsoring a picnic party. The fun starts at 6pm and everyone is invited. All you need to bring is $1.00 to cover the cost of food, and some other kind of munchies. The fun starts at 6pm, so get a friend and come on over. If you have any questions, contact Dennis at ext. 512 or Page ext. 504.

INTRAMURALS . . .

Keep checking for new activities. Tennis is soon to start.

RETURNING TO COLLEGE AFTER A FEW YEARS?

Then you belong to the increasing number of students at Marian College who are known as "non - traditional" students or "Adult Learners." The Campus Ministry is planning a series of informal lunch get-togethers for this group. We would like to find out how we could best be of service to you. Plan to attend the Commuter Student Meeting on Thursday, September 11, 12:30 in Marian Hall, room 251. At that meeting you can meet other Adult Learners and help make plans for the luncheon discussions that will be of benefit to you. For more info contact Sr Sue in the Ministry Center or the History Office.

Sr. Sue

TO THE MASSES

If you miss Kim and want to offer her a little encouragement in her latest adventure (grad school in Vermont), write her a quick note and drop it in the box marked "For Kim" in my office. As soon as I have a respectable number of notes, I'll mail them to her in one package so that she can be reminded that Marian Collage still loves her,

CAMPUS MINISTRY VOLUNTEERS

"Thank you to the many people who indicated their willingness to be of service by volunteering to help with Music Ministry, be readers at Mass, participating in retreats, etc. You will soon be contacted regarding the areas of interest you indicated. Due to an oversight on the volunteer sign-up paper, the service of carrying the bread and wine in the Offertory procession during Saturday night Mass was omitted. If you would be willing to do this occasionally, please sign your name here and put this paper in the Ministry Center in Clare Hall, first floor.

I am willing to carry the Offertory gifts occasionally at Mass.
